

GODDESS SERIE (New)

AMATERASU : LET THE SUN-Shine

Amaterasu Omikami is considered to be a gentle harmonizing presence and symbol of the myriads of kami. She blesses everybody indiscriminately with serene light. One can say that Japan is one of the few countries in the world where modernization and great economic growth have been achieved while the traditional deities, with Amaterasu Omikami as spiritual center remain important in people's lives.

But Amaterasu Omikami does not have the character of the absolute God of Christianity. She is described as a symbol for the myriads of kami, and as the one who brought great harmony to heaven and earth. Our ancestors lived with awe and respect towards the kami. Shinto, the indigenous religion of Japan, is based on these concepts of kami. The ancient Japanese believed in numerous kami, their multitude is expressed by the number eight million. The basis of Shinto faith is the consciousness that nature and human beings are united firmly through the kami. This consciousness is expressed in the ritual forms of worshipping the kami. Among the many Shinto sanctuaries in Japan, Ise Jingu is the supreme and offers spiritual support for the Japanese in times of confusion. The kami of Ise Jingu is Amaterasu Omikami, the supreme deity, who is not only the ancestor of the Imperial Family, but also the kami that gave rice to the people, as described in Japanese mythology.

This sacred blend of Lemongrass, Rosewood, Rosemary Eucalyptus, Goldenrod & Jasmine will bring joy; it will anchor you and will help stay in trust because even after a period of harsh times, the light and the sun always come back. It will help you breathe and take in the sun.

GAIAM, Mother Earth Goddess

GaiaII: Laurel, Rosewood; Lavender, Juniper, B Fir, Arborvitae

GAIA (or Gaea) was the primeval divinity of earth, one of the primal elements who first emerged at the dawn of creation, along with air, sea and sky. She was the great mother of all : the heavenly gods were descended from her union with Ouranos, the sky, the sea-gods from her union with Pontos, the sea, the Gigantes from her mating with Tartaros, the hell-pit and mortal creatures were sprung or born from her earthy flesh.

In the ancient Greek cosmology earth was conceived as a flat disk encircled by the river Okeanos, and topped above by the solid dome of heaven and below by the great pit of Tartaros. She herself supported the sea and mountains upon her breast.

Gaia appears in the character of a divine being as early as the Homeric poems, for we read in the Iliad (iii. 104) that black sheep were sacrificed to her, and that she was invoked by persons taking oaths.

Gaia: "land" or "earth", from the Ancient Greek Γαῖα; also Gaea or Ge (Modern Greek Γῆ) is the primal Greek goddess personifying the Earth. She is considered a Mother Goddess or Great Goddess. Her equivalent in the Roman pantheon was Terra.

The mythological name was revived in 1969 by James Lovelock, in Gaia: A New Look at Life on Earth, where he proposes that living organisms and inorganic material are part of a dynamic system that shapes the Earth's biosphere, and maintains the Earth as a fit environment for life. Further books by Lovelock and others popularized the Gaia Hypothesis, which was widely embraced and passed into common usage as part of the heightened awareness of planetary vulnerability of the 1990s.

With this blend, you can spiritually protect and love the earth; meditate for mother Earth.

Application: Put 3-4 drops in your hands, rub them, inhale and brush your aura with it and touch the Earth.

ISIS, the Sun Goddess

Geranium, Cypress, Black Spruce, Tagete, Goldenrod, Bulg Rose, Jasmine

Isis is the most famous Egyptian goddess. Her fame comes from the legend of Osiris who is the God of the invisible world. Being his wife and his sister, she became pregnant after his death and gave birth to their son Horus who is considered the first human being.

Isis is often represented as a woman with two horns with the sun in the middle to connect with sun spirit inside. It is important to understand that the sun in Native American, Semetic and Arabic traditions, is considered a feminine energy. This blend will awaken our spirituality, deploy our golden wings and raise our spirit which allows us to see things from a higher perspective giving us a different comprehension of what happens to us. This blend has been created especially to call the spirit of Isis. It is made of 7 pure and natural essential oils: Geranium, Cypress, Black Spruce, Tagete, Goldenrod, Bulgarian Rose, Jasmine. Here are their spiritual properties.

Geranium helps balance feminine mood swings while Cypress is to stay in balance when there is turmoil. Black Spruce is like a mast of the ship which holds the sails up and gives vital force to the spine. It also links us to our ancestors. Tagetes, this sunny Egyptian flower adds a very deep and warm fragrance to the blend and shines the sun in the brain. The Goldenrod, Bulgarian Rose and Jasmine all work on the heart chakra balancing the emotions and helping the user to open his heart without fear.

Put 3 drops in your hand, rub them together and open your arms like a wing to receive and give love energy.

KWAN YIN: THE GODDESS OF COMPASSION AND GENTLENESS, by Marie Allizon

In the Buddhist tradition, Kwan Yin is one of the most respected deities. Also known as Quan Yin, Kannon (Japan), and Kanin (Bali), she is the embodiment of compassionate, loving kindness. Quan means to inquire or look deeply into, Shi means the world of people, or generations, Yin means cries.

As the sublime Goddess of Mercy whose beauty, grace and compassion have come to represent the ideal of womanhood in the East, she is often shown pouring a stream of healing water. With this water, devotees and all living things are blessed with physical and spiritual peace. She holds a sheaf of ripe rice or a bowl of rice seed as a metaphor for fertility and sustenance. The dragon, an ancient symbol for high spirituality, wisdom, strength, and divine powers of transformation, is a common motif found in combination with this Goddess.

As a true Enlightened One, or Bodhisattva, Kwan Yin vowed to remain in the earthly realms and not enter the heavenly worlds until all other living things had completed their own enlightenment and thus become liberated from the pain-filled cycle of birth, death, and rebirth. There are numerous legends that recount the miracles which she performed to help those who called on her, women especially, and they convey the idea of an enlightened being who embodies the attributes of an all pervasive, all consuming, unwavering loving compassion who is accessible to everyone. Kwan Yin counsels us by her actions to cultivate within ourselves those particular refined qualities that all beings are said to naturally possess in some vestigial form.

The blend of Lavender, Petitgrain, Laurel, Clary Sage and Sandalwood opens you to compassion first, and then enables you to reach out to others. --- Rub 1-3 drops into palms and put them on your chest, heart chakra and thymus.

MARY MAGDALEN: OINTMENT TO OPEN THE HEART

Mary of Magdala was named after a town on the shore of the Sea of Galilee. The root of the name "Magdalene" is the Hebrew word "migdal," which means "tower," "fortress," or "stronghold. Mary Magdalen appears in the four canonical Christian gospels. She is the one who anointed Jesus with a very precious aromatic essence of spikeNARD. She is also important to the Gnostics but remains a subject of ongoing debate.

According to Tom Kenyon –who channeled The Madgalen Manuscript— and Daniel Meurois who wrote a book on her life from the Akashic Records, she was a High Initiate of the Temple of Isis. Her relationship with Yeshua represented the union of the Divine Feminine and Masculine through which all creation transpires, as well as redemption through divine illumination. On an emotional level, this sacred marriage means the union of the male and female aspects of our psyche through which our personality is brought into a harmonious manifestation where our true intelligence and creativity become expressed.

It was important then to use aromatic essences to heal the body and the spirit.

NARD (nardostachys jatamansi) is a small aromatic plant identified with the biblical NARD mentioned in the song of Solomon. “While the king setteth at his table my spikenard sendeth forth the smell thereof”. 1:12

Oils: Canadian Tsuga, White Spruce, Nard, White Angelica, Frankincense, Neroli and Hyssop.

Application: You can inhale it deeply and put a drop on your sternum as it will spread throughout your body and soul. It helps strengthen the alchemy between matter and spirit and can assist you go through difficult times with courage and serenity. NARD reveals the secret path to the seeker who is focused and sets an intention to live and serve with an open heart.

PACHAMAMA, The Inca Goddess of the Earth

White Spruce, White Pine; White Angelica; Frankincense; Nard,

To the pre-Incan people of Peru and Bolivia, Pachamama (pronounced pah'cha-ma-ma), or Mamapacha, is the Earth, worshipped in her many forms: the tilled fields, her mountains seen as breasts, the flowing rivers as her milk. To ensure good harvests, corn meal is sprinkled at planting and rituals celebrating her are performed. When people fail to honor her, this dragon Goddess sends earthquakes as a reminder.

A more literal translation would be "Mother Universe"(in Aymara and Quechua mama = mother / pacha = world, space-time or the universe). Pachamama and Inti (her husband) are the most benevolent deities and are worshiped in parts of the Andean mountain ranges, stretching from present day Ecuador to Chile and Argentina. Llamas are sacrificed to her. After conquest by Catholic Spain her image was masked by the Virgin Mary, behind whom she is invoked and worshiped in the Indian ritual.

Pachamama waits for you with open arms. It is time to open to her embrace. Now is the time to heal and remember your holiness, remember yourself as a sacred being. Do you feel a connection with Earth Mother as a living entity? Are you in the middle of some emotional pain that nothing seems to ease? Do you eat food and drink water without giving thanks to the earth? Are you looking for answers to questions? Do you spend time in nature opening to the earth and her vital energies? Opening to Pachamama can occur anywhere. You can commune with her in a city park, your own backyard, some remote forest, jungle, or desert. The Goddess says that healing is nurtured when you open to her.

Since Pachamama is a "good mother", people usually toast to her honor before every meeting or festivity, in some regions by spilling a small amount of chicha on the floor, before drinking the rest. This toast is called "challa" and it's made almost everyday.

Personal Experience: "It is very calming. It feels like you are making a dow –for the Earth--. I have a sense that I can do anything I need effortlessly. I am at one with greatness. You feel being embraced by a mother's hug!! ST"

Application: Put 3 drops in your hands, rub them and touch your heart and then the 2 minor chakras, below shoulders, those points you touch when one makes the sign of the cross."

Venus, the Goddess of love and beauty.

Ylang Ylang; Mandarin, Grapefruit, Orange, Jasmine, Cinnamon bark.

She was a major Roman goddess, the equivalent of the Greek goddess Aphrodite who played a key role in many Roman religious festivals and myths. Venus is also a nature goddess, associated with the arrival of spring. She is the bringer of joy to gods and humans.

During the Renaissance in Europe, Venus serves as inspiration to many great works of art, including the statue of Venus De Milo now in the Louvre and The Birth of Venus, by Botticelli. As a "classical" figure for whom nudity was her natural state, it was socially acceptable to depict her unclothed. As the goddess of sexual healing, a degree of erotic beauty in her presentation was justified.

It is the Goddess Venus who inspires people to love one another and to celebrate the rites of marriage. She is also associated with the rites of Spring and Fertility. Though there are many other great Goddesses associated with Love, Venus reigns as the supreme Goddess of Love.

Venus rules your social attitudes and behavior, and your aesthetic tastes and inclinations. Venus indicates your values. It describes romance, marriage and other partnerships, capacity for humor, and the pursuit of pleasure. Ylang-Ylang, rose and cardamom are associated with her and archaeologists have found the world's oldest essential oils factory in Cyprus, her island! <http://celticspirit117.blogspot.com/2007/03/ancient-perfume-found-on-venus-island.html>
